Crews have to remain in the warm-up zone and before their race they have to assemble at the end of the warm up zone towards the start. They will be called into the narrow zone beside the start either by the starter or by a dedicated Marshall at this position. They must then proceed to the 100m zone orderly and without overtaking. They will be called into lanes by the starter and ONLY then they are allowed to enter the course as another race might still be coming to pass them.

From the time the crews entered the lanes the standard FISA starting procedure will be in operation.

- Traffic Light Starting System
- Blinking Light and tone for False Starts
- Adjustable fingers for the alignment of the boats.

Crews are advised to assume starting position during the alignment process (i.e. after the "2 Minutes" call) and not only when the Roll Call starts as this might make a re-alignment necessary.

The Control Commission "Head Quarter" is a large white tent between the two paths leading down to the pontoons from the boat storage. A large sign "Control Commission" is affixed to it for identification.
